The Verbs gustar, aburrir and interesar

interesar – to interest

gustar – to be pleasing to (to like)

aburrir – to bore

The verbs interesar and aburrir work just like they do in English. Note that the endings of “interesa” and “aburre” do not change in the same way as other verbs. What changes is the indirect object pronoun in front of the verb. Look at the example.

- ¿El béisbol te interesa? – Does baseball interest you?
- No, el béisbol me aburre. – No, baseball bores me.

Here are the forms of each.

Interesar		Aburrir
me interesa(n)	nos interesa(n)	me aburre(n)	nos aburre(n)
te interesa(n)	os interesa(n)	te aburre(n)	os aburre(n)
le interesa(n)	les interesa(n)	le aburre(n)	les aburre(n)

In Spanish, the verb gustar works the same way. We generally translate it as “to like” but it is better to think of it as “to be pleasing.” NEVER, NEVER, NEVER use “yo” or “tú” in front of gustar. Use one of the indirect object pronouns from below.

- For example: Me gusta = It pleases me or it is pleasing to me

me gusta(n)	nos gusta(n)
te gusta(n)	os gusta(n)
le gusta(n)	les gusta(n)

Important note: If gustar is followed by a single noun or a verb the form is gusta. If it is followed by a plural noun(s), we use gustan.

- For example: Me gustan los zapatos. = The shoes please me.

Gustar is often followed by another verb to say what someone likes to do. Do not conjugate the second verb.

- Example: Me gusta navegar el Internet. – I like to surf the web.
